

How the Second World War was Won

How The Second World War Was Won

Introduction.

One: How to Get Convoys Safely Across the Atlantic.

Two: How to Win Command of the Air.

Three: How to Land on an Enemy-Held Shore.

Four: How to Stop a Blitzkrieg.

Five: How to Fight Through a Jungle.

Six: How to “Hop” Across the Pacific.

Seven: How to Win the Intelligence War.

Conclusion.

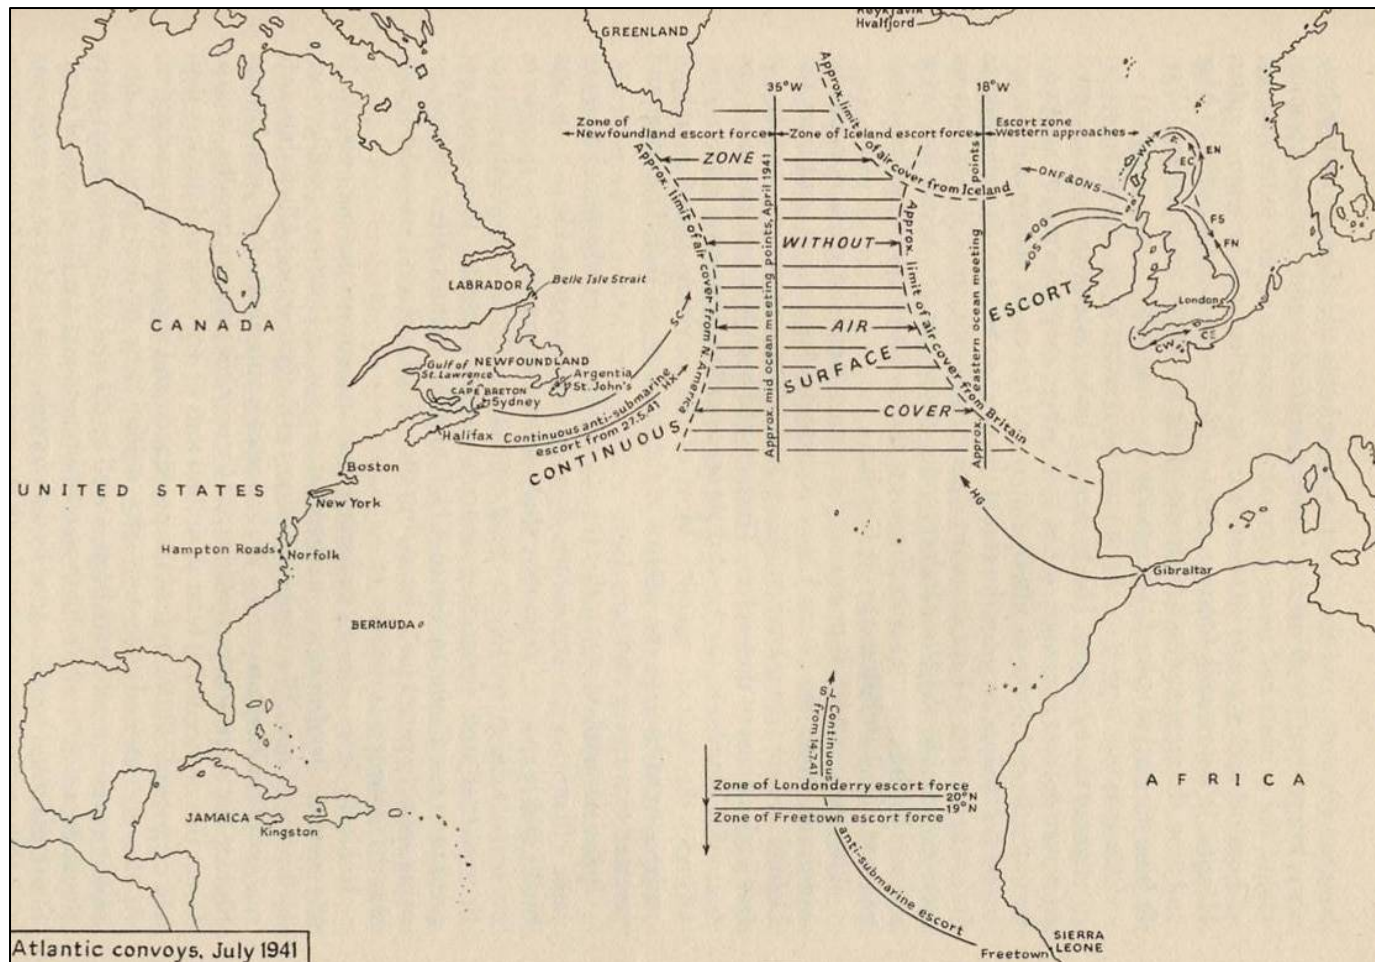

Allied Shipping Losses, 1943

Source: Kevin Smith, Conflict Over Convoys.

The Atlantic Air Gap

Source: John Winton, Convoy.

Very Long Range B-24 Liberators

Source: Correlli Barnett, Engage the Enemy More Closely.

Atlantic Escorts

Source: John Winton, Convoy.

Hunter-killer Groups

Source: Correlli Barnett, Engage the Enemy More Closely.

Miniaturization of Radar

Source: Correlli Barnett, Engage the Enemy More Closely.

Sunderland Flying Boats

Source: Correlli Barnett, Engage the Enemy More Closely.

Leigh Lights

Enigma Machines and the Breaking of the German Naval Code

German U-boat Losses

The Battle of Britain

A Heinkel He III over London, 1940.

British Coastal Radar

RAF Spitfire

RAF “Sweeps” Over France

Lancasters in Night Action

A Lancaster flies over Hamburg, dropping bombs.

The B-17 Flying Fortress

Twelve O'Clock High (1949)

Mustang Fighter

Mosquito Pathfinder

Dresden, Before and After

1943

1945

Gallipoli, 1916

Dieppe Raid, 1943

Invasion of Normandy

Landing Craft

Sherman Crab “Flailing” Tanks

RAF Typhoon

Deception Missions

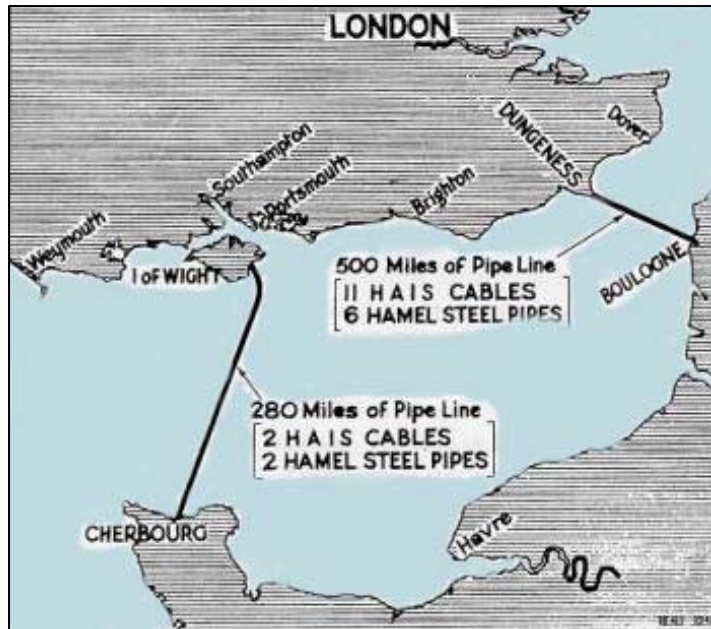

HMS Seraph

Mulberry Harbor

PLUTO Pipeline

Telescoped sample of H.A.I.S. Cable showing construction

Anglo-American Grand Strategy?

